

SORGENFRI

Sorgenfri is a street magazine who is made and given out in Trondheim, which is in the middle of Norway. They who sell the magazine is people who has a drug history and are/have been in the drug society for a while. The sellers earn a bit of the magazine, and the rest goes to the editors of Sorgenfri. Every christmas Sorgenfri releases a christmas book where you can read stories, get Christmas recipes and much, much more.

I like to support the Sorgenfri-sellers. I get a good feeling inside of me when i have purchased a book/magazine, and i can see the smile inside gf the sellers. You support both the editor of the magazine, but you also support the seller, and i think it is important to support people who dozen` t have the things and the life that i have.

I chose to design my poster as simple as possible. I like big and bold fonts with company of strong colors. i chose the have a dark blue color on the background (the color is much more greenish on the screen) the font i choose to use on the poster is named Aldo and is a very cool, bold and special font who have an cool look.
